Alan Young, BES, MSc, MCIP, MRTPI, RPP

Alan Young
Senior Associate

Mr. Young holds a Bachelor of Environmental Studies (Honours Urban and Regional Planning) (1974) from the University of Waterloo and a Master of Science in Town Planning (1977) from Heriot-Watt University/Edinburgh College of Art in Scotland. He is a Member of the Canadian Institute of Planners (MCIP), a Member of the Royal Town Planning Institute (MRTPI) and a Registered Professional Planner (RPP) in Ontario.

Mr. Young has 30 years of planning experience in both the public and private sectors.

Mr. Young commenced his career with the City of Edinburgh District Council where he was a member of the South Side Local Plan team.

On his return to Canada, he joined the North York Planning Department, where he prepared background reports on Parks and Open Space and Heritage for the official plan review program. Subsequently, as a planner and senior planner in the Development Control Division, he handled a wide variety of development applications, including major redevelopment projects in the North York City Centre and York Mills Office Centre. As Director of Long-Range Planning, Mr. Young was responsible for official plan review and secondary plans, including the approval of the North York City Centre Plan.

Between 1989 and 1995 Mr. Young operated a private consulting practice as a sole practitioner providing services to landowners, ratepayer groups and municipalities.

In 1995 he was appointed Director of Planning for the Town of Orangeville. His responsibilities included growth management and other general planning policy issues, the review of the Official Plan, the development approvals process including new commercial development and residential subdivisions, the development of a recreational trail-way network, downtown heritage conservation programs and the supervision of report preparation for the Committee of Adjustment.

In 2005 he joined the Weston Consulting Group as an Associate. Mr. Young is a project manager involved in a full range of planning services including development applications, strategic planning and property assessments.

Mr. Young's expertise is in urban land use planning and development. He has provided professional services in all areas of official plans, zoning by-laws, secondary plans, subdivision and site plan design and development to public agencies, the development industry, ratepayers groups and private individuals. Mr. Young has extensive experience as an expert witness before the Ontario Municipal Board.
